

WEEK 4 OF 4 · Breath

Script 4: The Warrior's Bellows (Energizing Breath)Theme: Energy Activation

Rationale: Sometimes students feel lethargic or "heavy" before training. This script uses a slightly faster rhythm to wake up the nervous system and oxygenate the blood, preparing the body for explosive movement.

Request that students find their meditation stance. Remind them: "If you feel dizzy or uncomfortable, return to normal breathing immediately."

"Sometimes we arrive at the dojo feeling tired or heavy. We can use the breath to wake up our nervous system. Settle into your stance. Keep your spine straight.

We are going to take sharp, strong inhales through the nose, and let the exhale just fall out naturally. It sounds like this: Sniff-relax, sniff-relax.

Let's try it together for ten breaths. Inhale sharp... release. Inhale sharp... release. Feel the energy waking up in your chest and behind your eyes. (Pause for 10 counts of breathing.)

Now, take one deep, long inhale... hold it at the top for a moment... and let it all out with a sigh. Feel the heat you just created. You are awake. You are ready."
