

WEEK 2 OF 4 · Spirit

Script 2: The Warrior's WhyTheme: Purpose and Drive

Rationale: Connecting to their "Why" — asking themselves why they train before stepping onto the mats — changes a student's energy during hard training. Purpose is the fuel that keeps them moving when the body wants to stop.

Request that students find their meditation stance. Remind students of the "out."

"We have trained the Breath, the Body, and the Mind. Now we train the Spirit. Your Spirit is the fuel in the tank. It is the answer to the question: 'Why am I here?'"

Settle into your stance. Close your eyes. Ask yourself silently: Why do I train? Is it to be strong? To protect someone? To feel confident? To find peace? There is no wrong answer. Just listen for yours. (Pause for 15 seconds.)

Imagine that reason is a small flame deep in your belly — in your center. Every time you inhale, imagine that flame getting brighter and warmer. Every time you exhale, imagine that heat spreading through your body.

When you are doing push-ups and you want to quit, or when you are sparring and you are tired, this flame is what keeps you moving. Connect with that fire now. Feel it fueling your spirit. (Pause for 15 seconds.)

Keep that flame burning as you open your eyes."
